

Our Promise to Students

A school’s mission is effectively a contract with students, families, and the community. Its success depends on how it fulfills that contract.

Step 1 – Research

Think about your priorities for effective and meaningful education.

- Is it all students graduating with mastery of certain subjects, being prepared to succeed through college, or developing a growth mindset, persistence, and a sense of purpose?
- Is it a combination of those things, or something else entirely?

Step 2 – Reflect

Share findings with your team and discuss these questions:

- What are your priorities for an effective education? What are you promising your students, and what practices will you implement to achieve it?
- How can your students be empowered to “own” their learning?
- What would a “contract” look like with your students? Work with your team to develop one.

How can you deliver on your promise to students?

Priorities	Practices
..... ..... ..... ..... .....	..... ..... ..... ..... .....
..... ..... ..... ..... .....	..... ..... ..... ..... .....
..... ..... ..... ..... .....	..... ..... ..... ..... .....

